Highlights

As mentioned in the last newsletter, Archangel Michael wants to deliver messages to help you.

He channeled information to me to help you understand karma to better navigate your choices and future to help you achieve more peace and prosperity for you as well as for the planet.

You can find his message on our blog which begins with the purpose of karma as well as how you may be experiencing it. Click here to read.

You will also see our new website, which is still being completed. Lots of work yet to go but it is definitely a new beginning!

Also, while on the blog, you can read a case study of client suffering the karma from the seed money used in establishing a new bank. You could very well have been affected by the same karma. Read more here.

As Michael addressed in his message, there will be upcoming information shared on judgment day as well as other things he highlighted. I'm honored to be his partner in this endeavor to contribute to making your lives easier and better.

"Through my work in past lives over the last 20 years, I have discovered there are often emotional attachments and negative memories from those lifetimes that hold us back even now. By identifying and releasing them, life can improve more effortlessly," says Joy Pedersen.

There will be a question and answer session following the presentation of information. For those who cannot attend, an audio recording will be sent to all who register.
