What to expect?

Many people are talking about the ascension, the coming shift, heaven on earth and the golden age. What is to come? How will it look? Will it be drastic or gradual?

God mentioned that it was very important that all be well coordinated because they were trying to take into consideration the best possibility for the most if not all.

Apparently, it isn't as easy to change the world as we'd like!

Our free will sometimes gets in the way of plans they make. They must alter their plans taking into consideration the different choices made on earth that can influence their efforts.

I keep getting that we are leaning more toward a gradual shift so it won't be as drastic or unnerving. It was mentioned that making a gradual change would make it easier overall.

Following a dinner conversation recently discussing the variables of the future, I asked Archangel Michael about what we could anticipate. This blog post we are linking to here is his response. Click here.

Over the years, the battle with darkness seemed endless. Well it's not over. But, the good news is that the cause on a spiritual level seems to have been cleared. Once the cause on the spiritual level has been cleared, the rest follows suit more readily.

The Monday after Easter, I was guided to address the original thoughts of comparison, perspective and perception and clear the judgment that came of those thoughts that lead to defending of those judgment and perspectives. These qualities developed into what people have experienced as evil darkness.

That has seemed to have been the last clearing I was guided to do that was focused on issues affecting the world at large. Since then the information coming forth is regarding plans for the future and the work I am being geared for going forward. We are now to focus on the effects of darkness of which most are still experiencing. The more that is cleared for the individual, the quicker and easier heaven on earth and the golden age will be experienced.
