Joyful News - 7/21/17

I was feeling somewhat guilty this morning not having been there for friends as I would have preferred. But, realized I wasn't there for me either the way that I needed to be. Putting the world and my calling first came at a big personal price. I'm now becoming more present to it. I also am looking at the world wondering if it was worth the sacrifice.

Yes, I may have eliminated the cause of darkness but people are continuing to empower it due to their programming. So, it doesn't look like things have changed much. Of course, that depends on your vantage point. We opened up Heaven on Earth, which is available to all who choose to ascend to it. That is a much better state of consciousness to enjoy. It provides better outcomes for those who have chosen to work on themselves achieve it. Remember it takes a pure heart to experience it.

There are those who are waiting for God to take appropriate action and yet he is acting all the time working through those who allow him to. Those who are aligned with him are benefiting. Those surrendered to him allowing him to work his magic through them, get to experience opportunities that others may not. They also get to help affect change in the world if they'd like to make a bigger impact.

I realize that most won't want to give up their personal lives like I did to devote most waking hours to serving God and humanity. It isn't a requirement to sacrifice your whole life like that if it isn't your purpose. But, are you fulfilling your purpose? Are you doing what it takes to create peace in your own life? If you don't have peace in your own personal world, how can you expect it elsewhere? It always starts with you.

For those who have trouble finding peace, I'm linking here to an article to help you establish it.

And, in the meantime, I am on my own road to recovery from the sacrifices I've made for the world. The cause of evil was eliminated and the karma negatively affecting humanity has been cleared so you can have an easier time finding that peace. Unfortunately, the responsibility going forward to establishing that peace in your world lies with you. You must seize the opportunity now available to you to reach Heaven on Earth to experience a world of joy, love, peace, balance and freedom. It comes from personal responsibility and work on yourself to achieve it.

God can work through you just as I allowed him to work through me. He can improve your world through you as well as the world at large if that is your preference. The choice is yours. The heavy lifting of the sabotage is already gone. The programming that remains behind is now your battle to overcome. We still have the monthly group calls to assist, and are putting together new programs as well to assist in the future because Heaven recognizes the challenges you continue to face. But, in the interim, remember your choices matter.

And, for those of you who wish to meet in the physical, below are my plans.

Wishing you a wonderful weekend and hoping to see you if we are closer in proximity.

Blessings,

Joy

Travel Plans and Agenda

Right now I am still in Phoenix area with hopes to continue to explore more of Arizona while here.

I still would like to get to Tucson and possibly Sedona again but mostly has been work and rest.

The current plans now are to be in Las Vegas for possibly a couple of days August 11 and then go to Los Angeles by August 14 until I fly to New Jersey August 24. I'll be returning to Florida September 11. The goal is to see as many friends and family as possible. I will continue to do my phone sessions while traveling but my goal is to see whom I can!

This work has felt somewhat 24/7 for what seems like decades now and it hasn't given me the opportunity to socialize and be in touch with friends as much as I'd like so I'm excited to take the time while healing and restoring my energy to visit!

So, those of you who would like to see me while there's a closer proximity, let me know.
