Spiritual Confusion

I have witnessed much confusion evidenced in dialogue on internet. Many are awakening with much curiosity as to their more unusual experiences. Searching for answers on the internet, they are coming across a number of channeled messages and spiritual groups with members shedding a wide variety of conflicting perspectives.

What many haven't learned yet is to discern within what is accurate and appropriate. They are listening to this channel and that channel not even clear that many are offering their guidance from a 3D perspective, which is more limited in scope. When one ascends to 5D their messages may be more accurate or comprehensive.

It has been troubling to also see how often the so-called spiritual crowd are defending their positions rather than being open-minded and loving - two signs of the spiritually advanced. As one evolves spiritually, they learn to discern, go within and align with their higher power rather than literature, researching the internet, and listening to the first explanation they come across for their new awarenesses.

Be patient with yourself and others during this time of awakening. With over 7 billion people on the planet, you can imagine there are as many different perspectives. Only God knows the whole story. Be open to learning and discerning. Let go of needing to defend a position as that is where evil begins.

The journey may have just begun, or has been evolving a lifetime, but regardless, there is always more to learn. And the greatest gift of all is discernment during these trying times.

Much love,
Joy
