The Time of Tribulation and Recent Tragedy

In light of the tragedy this week regarding the school shooting that many are focusing on, I was inspired to write about the time of tribulation. It was prophesied that there would come a time of tribulation at the end of times. As I have mentioned in the past, the end of times is really the end of darkness running the planet.

The official date of tribulation was announced by God on Monday at noon on August 29, 2016. The trumpets were sounded and the official seven year cycle of that time began. At the end of that seven-year cycle, the gates of Heaven would again open making it easier for those ready to ascend to Heaven on Earth. The exact end date is not decided.

Let's look at what that really means. More darkness is surfacing for it to be released. The important thing to know is to let it go and choose in each moment love and light rather than fear which empowers the darkness. Always return to love and forgiveness. It solves more problems faster than anything.

Archangel Michael shared his comments here on the time of tribulation.

What you are seeing and experiencing regarding lower energies is the evidence of 3D programming, fear and unhealed emotions within. By working on the self, letting go of negative memories, emotions, thoughts and beliefs, and choosing positive feelings, thoughts and actions is paramount now for your highest and best good. Your choices matter as it impacts the all or whole. You can't necessarily control anything or anyone so it is important to focus on what you do have control over and that is your reaction.

When you experience or witness a tragedy, send love to those involved. Forgive all, including yourself in matters for which you feel responsible. Forgiveness matters more than you realize.

Anyone causing you or others trauma, are hurting more than you likely are. They are more lost and separate from God than you likely are. So rise above and pray for them, send them love and forgiveness. For the faster they can heal, the quicker all experience better results.

Everyone was invited and is invited to ascend to Heaven on Earth to experience the flow of joy, love, peace and abundance as a natural state. You must, however, have an open and pure heart to ascend. Letting go of your judgments of others, your fears, your feelings of lack and limitation are what assist you and others more than buying into the experiences and challenges witnessed and experienced in the 3D reality. If you want to experience the benefits of the 5D reality, you must choose the thoughts, feelings and beliefs supportive of a life of ease rather than those from the 3D matrix we are all trying to leave behind. No one has to wait until the gates reopen, it just takes work on the self.

The time of tribulation doesn't have to affect you if you choose love instead of fear. Have compassion for those experiencing a 3D reality. Pray for them. Forgive those who are hurting themselves and others. But, choose to not live amongst them. Rise above them and their limited beliefs and fears to experience 5D and set an example of it for all to follow.

Wishing you a wonderful weekend.

Blessings,

Joy

I was excited this morning to see we now have 1,111 members in our Help from Heaven group. I began that group as another way to give back to you and help answer questions and educate on a variety of topics. We discuss Heaven and Heaven on Earth. I share insights from God, Archangel Michael, Jesus and other heavenly colleagues to assist you.

We have often commented in the group about the significance of 11:11. It opens a portal to Heaven when we do our group healing calls on the first Saturday of the month. I thought it would be a useful idea gathering all at 11:11 today to pray for all those experiencing challenges and increasing the light together in support of the world. Join us at 11:11 today from wherever you are and share your light with the world and send your love to all. As mentioned above, it matters more than you know.
