Love

It is out of God's love for you that he asked me to do the monthly group healing calls. We did this month's on love in light of Valentine's Day tomorrow.

During each month's call, God gives us a teaching on the subject and often adds special clearing on a particular vantage point that may be holding you back. This month was no exception.

Each month we clear many issues at once to help elevate your life. We clear some of the hidden issues sabotaging your results. Often they occur in past lives.

Following this month's clearing I asked Jesus what I might be doing wrong because so few actually participate in comparison to knowing the challenges many face, especially since we were addressing two hot topics love and prosperity. I thought he would respond with something to clear or a way to improve my marketing but he said I was too spiritual. Needless to say, I was a bit taken back by that. Do we leave God out of the mix to make life more acceptable? Over the years, I have often been told that if I left the mention of God out of my marketing, and spoke to the lowest common denominator, that I could reach a lot more people and make a lot more money.

But, we can't take God out of the mix because regardless if you accept him or not, want him or not, love him or not, he is your Creator and the essence within you that allows you to breathe. What is God but love itself? God and, therefore, love are the essence of all there is with the highest regard for you and greatest intent to serve you. He is also the Source of all supply and all you require.

But, often we don't recognize and appreciate that because of fear instilled about God and also the way in which he has been misrepresented and has become misunderstood over the years due to teachings by many who don't have a personal relationship with him.

Quite frankly, I have never met anyone who has more love and compassion than God. If you want love in your life, that is where to start. Start there and you have all the love you will ever require. But, if you want help with love, God is definitely the one to help improve any issues regarding love in your life. He will actually orchestrate events to lead you to optimal love.

I will leave you with a snippet of his teaching from our call:

Love yourself first and foremost. Start there. Until you can fully and completely love yourself, you will have trouble in the romance department. And, you will have trouble in most relationships. When you love yourself, you attract people who love you for who you are rather than those who are called forth to help you heal the part of yourself that is unloving or unloved.

Work on the self first and then all else falls into place more effortlessly. For those of you who celebrate Valentine's Day, look at that as an occasion to bring more love into your life. Whether you have someone to spend it with or not is irrelevant. Bring more love to you, as well as to whomever you may spend it with. Don't come from a place of lack if there is a significant other missing for the occasion. Be the person who loves self, others and life and you will have an abundant celebration.

The teaching in its entirety will go out to participants of the call.

In the interim, have a wonderful Valentine's Day and all the love you deserve and desire.

Blessings,

Joy

PS: For anyone trying to access our website, we are going through a migration and it may not be working when you reach out. Sorry for any disconnect there.

Harness Your Power Within: Gaining Clarity in Consciousness for More Effortless Success

Based on requests, we will do an encore of this workshop online. In light of moving to Sarasota next month, we may have to put this on the back burner. It's such an important topic to understand and I want to be able to address when not rushed.
