Lack, Leisure and Laughter

August is often considered the main month for vacations and I was guided to take it off from world service to focus on my business and personal life. I have lost count how many times

Heaven has told me to have fun. I finally got the message and have been weaning myself from wanting to fix the challenges I see in the world. That being said, the effect of raising our own vibration by taking a vacation, will also increase the vibration of the world. It will help influence the collective so it is useful for all to focus on play to impact the whole.

Fun has often been underrated and considered frivolous. The American work ethic is a concept that comes with some deeply imbedded programming. Work often carries more weight and feels more of a necessity than play. But, that may not be entirely true.

First and foremost, times are changing. As we move into the new golden age, there will be new approaches to everything we do, including work. On September 7 we will focus our next group clearing call on releasing work-related challenges and concepts holding you back from fully enjoying and prospering in life with ease. Also, it will help prepare you more for this new age.

In the interim, it is suggested to lighten up with more play as play brings more prosperity. When you take time off, you relax and you have the opportunity for more peace, creativity and inspiration. You open yourself up to receiving more with greater ease.

I remember days when I felt financially challenged and I took the day off instead of focusing on the challenge. Sometimes the focus itself on work or making money, or the lack of or need for money, will make work and money more difficult and less fruitful. I now know if I find myself struggling in any way, I know I haven't played enough.

Heaven on Earth is a location in consciousness you ascend to where joy, peace, balance and abundance are more common experiences. All can be more easily achieved from a place of play and from taking time for yourself. So, enjoy the rest of your summer, take time for yourself, and create from a place of centeredness and joy. Otherwise if you create from a place of stress, your lower energies contribute to imbalances rather than what you can create from a place of peace.

Wishing you fun in service to your soul...

Blessings,

Joy
