Earth Day News

This will be brief to give you some good news and then I am going to bed to rest.

I was guided to not do the newsletter last week as I was more involved in spiritual warfare for the planet than communicating news of it. Today, however, I wanted to share with you that we had our final battle with darkness. I wanted to share that with you as all deserve some good news for a change.

I realize most of you won't be able to relate and might not particularly care because you don't know how the darkness has been undermining you personally. Just understand that all needs to be healed in the spiritual realm before you will notice it in the physical.

There has been a divine scribe that has been taking notes of our work who will begin to connect with me in the future to help me to be able to more effectively communicate with you what is most purposeful for you to know. The things we uncovered and cleared that affect you now may still be useful for you to understand.

In the interim, this Earth Day is my day of personal freedom from this role of spiritual warrior to set you all free from the cause of darkness. After putting in three to eight hours a day just this year to bring an end to this, God is giving me the next five days off to rest. I am grateful to that finale, and the time off. I am also grateful to some of my colleagues who have also participated in some of the healings that have taken place to bring this to an end.

I will still be doing individual sessions for those who reach out for my help. And, we will have our big monthly group healing call May 2. We will be working then on everything from your personal needs to the global interests you wish addressed. Our main focus on motherhood will be even more significant this year for specific reasons. I will also share with you more of those details time permitting.

All have been mothers and have mothers and most karma is with that role or relationship so it is always a good one to clear. I will also share some historical news on that subject in the future.

Right now I am going to rest and regroup in preparation for my new life ahead.

After that rest God asked me to take, I will also still be available to those of you who wish to hire me or donate to the global healing necessary to bring about the rebalance necessary in the physical. As mentioned, it has to be cleared in the spiritual before it can occur in the physical.

However, as of today, I am no longer required to do global healings without the support from humanity who benefit. Therefore, donation buttons are at the bottom of this newsletter as well as on my site. I thank those of you who have been gracious to donate at times which makes it a little less of a sacrifice. I have not only donated my time but sacrificed my life to this project since Archangel Michael enrolled me in 2004 in joining him in clearing darkness. Therefore, every little donation has been and is appreciated.

Going forward, keep in mind that going within connecting with God is most relevant right now for the help provided for you always. God has asked me to help you connect better and receive that guidance accurately in the future. So, if you aren't able to get that guidance clearly, we will help you with it. But, in the interim, meditate and go into your heart to establish and build that connection.

Blessings to you all. It's time to be and live in peace.

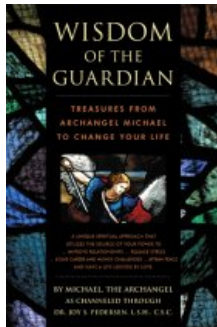

Love,

Joy

PS: Don't forget to join our Facebook group, Help from Heaven, for further discussion. However, I won't likely be communicating much in the next five days.
