What are some of your hidden blocks to money?

Frequently people come to me with issues relating to money. I often hear, "I'm doing everything I think I'm supposed to but I'm not making enough money." Or, "I must be blocked because I'm doing everything possible but nothing seems to be working as I expect."

When I look within to determine what might be blocking them, I have discovered some common threads. Here is some of that list:

- personal or ancestral karma
- personal, cultural, religious or ancestral programming
- limited beliefs about money
- past life negative memories relating to money situations
- prior failures especially around jobs, business or gambling
- past life in debtors prison
- stealing bread or food from lifetimes of starvation
- lifetimes of poverty
- vows of poverty
- curses
- old contracts undermining results today
- prior success that came with much sacrifice
- issues around selling oneself due to past life of prostitution
- feelings of unworthiness
- fear of success or failure

Those are some of the highlights. When I access the subconscious or identify certain subjects, we can then lift the story from the subconscious to release all connected including the emotion.

I will never forget a story connected with one of my clients. She was a man in another life and sat on the side of the street begging in a loin cloth in a 3rd world country. He lost his wife and son due to starvation. He was terribly saddened and felt guilty that he couldn't save them. He looked emaciated. Unfortunately, I got too much into the man's energy and ended up crying due to his sorrow. That memory and those emotions lingered within her. During that session I cleared that story and those emotions as well as another lifetime. That afternoon, this accountant got two new unexpected clients.

Since your subconscious attracts the results you experience, unless and until you release those memories, the past will dictate your future results.

When I started this work, I had to clear the programming I received from my parents who were affected by the depression era who shared beliefs in not enough and other fears about money. I also got into past lives that were still affecting me. Fortunately, once I did that, I relate to money very differently now and it mostly flows without my thinking about it.

I have found that no matter how much money someone may have, there still may be issues around receiving, sharing, spending, investing, etc. It is always delightful when I hear the stories from clients come back how they increased their income, received unexpected wins, and new opportunities flowed.

If you have any challenges regarding money, I am here to help privately. But this Saturday, in particular, we will get into the above list and more in our monthly call.

Due to the nature of today's financial climate, I will also be including issues to clear relating to those to help participants overcome those specific challenges.

Wishing you and yours health as well as financial freedom...

Blessings,

Joy
