What's With All The Mayhem?

Are things actually getting worse rather than better?

I have clients who have expressed concern over the pandemic, the riots, the suffering, and the challenges experienced or witnessed in others.

Much fear has been brought to the surface for many. I can assure anyone that if they have a secure connection to and trust in God, as their Source, they know that no matter what happens they will be fine.

Karma has been the culprit to many of the scenarios surfacing. Unless and until people look within, get the lessons, and let it all go to move on, the karma may linger and repeat. Fortunately, we can now help let that go for people.

Unhealed issues and confusion about God can block optimal outcomes. Also, unhealed emotions and negative memories in general that create fear and limited beliefs now can also limit outcomes.

You are witnessing many people's "stuff" come up and not everyone is handling it well. Many don't realize it is their own karma at play. Some are blaming others and circumstances rather than taking responsibility for their results by their lack of pure connection to Source or that they still have karma.

The invisible darkness that has been released operating behind the scenes is causing the darkness that has been hidden within people to come to the surface. Stories such as child trafficking, pedophilia, and Adrenochrome being publicized are now giving the opportunity to have it all come to the light and be released. It's like the glass of water that has been shaken up and now the dirty sediment is coming to the surface to be skimmed off the top.

This negative news is giving rise to those watching it the opportunity to choose light over dark. The pandemic has turned many more inward and toward the light as well. Many have evaluated how they spend their time, money and resources and with whom. People are beginning to make better choices based on values. And, yet others have felt threatened and out of control.

This is the era for all to be rectified. That is what you are witnessing. You are also witnessing who is choosing the dark path and who is choosing the light path. Those who are violent, angry, abusive, controlling, etc. have become more noticeable. They are the ones suffering the most pain because they are the most separate from Source in those moments. Those are the ones that need our prayers and love so they can let go of what is behind their outbursts.

The sooner the most return to the light, the faster all find peace, as well as solutions to the everyday problems people are facing.

There is a bright future awaiting all. God has great plans in store. When aligned with God, you achieve them in divine timing with good to all. When in resistance to God's plan, you cause yourself challenges as well as delays in receiving good that is in store for you.

In the interim, I'm looking forward to speaking with those of you who are participating on the Clarity Call Healing and Q&A this Saturday. We will be including some of what people are experiencing and witnessing in the healing portion of the call as well as your personal issues.

Wishing you the wonder within the light....

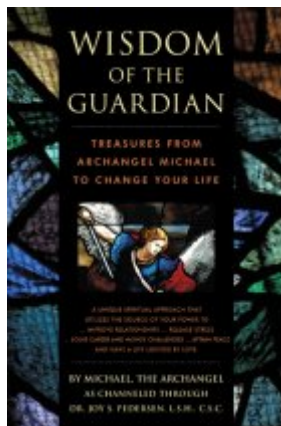

Love,

Joy
